Mr. Jones is the secretary of the Home-Steved Fire Insurance Company, of Franklin, and is a young man of splendid business qualifications and fine promises. He was born in this county, and up to within a few months ago, lived in Emporia, where he is held in high esteem and is exceedingly popular.

RHEUMATISM

NEGROES USE SHOT-GUNS IN DUBLIN

Forty Shots Exchanged Between Them and Citizens—Wysor's Good Work.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

PULASKI, VA., Nov. 16.—Two negro men from Needmore, who had been on a hunting expedition, returned through the streets of Dublin Monday to the station there to take the train for Pulaski.

While passing along the street in Dublin they had an altercation with a small son of Mr. Ferdinand Anderson, and, as a result, one of the negroes smacked the little boy head over heels across the road. The child ran crying home and told what had happened. An older brother seized a pistol and started down town to get the deputy sheriff. Then his father ran after and overtook him, fearing he might get into trouble. The negroes were standing at the station, and when they saw Mr. Anderson and his son approaching, without any parleying, they opened fire on them with double-barreled shotguns.

Bystanders then came to the relief of Mr. Anderson and his son. In all, some thirty or forty shots were fired. In the melee the negroes made their escape, though both of them were wounded, but not seriously. One of them has been captured, but the other is still at large. The name of the latter is Ed. Connor. He was convicted ten years ago of attempted criminal assault, but, upon appeal, the conviction was reversed.

Mr. Anderson and his son received a number of shot wounds, which, luckily for them, however, were inflicted with small bird-shot. The affair has created considerable excitement.

Cards are out for the marriage of Miss Ellen King, daughter of Hon. James T. Trolinger, to Walter C. Price, at the Methodist Church here, Wednesday evening, November 23d. The father of Miss Trolinger is the member-elect of the House of Delegates from this county, who recently won a striking victory over the Republican nominee, H. T. Elstein. Mr. Price is a member of the Trolinger-Price Hardware Company, the largest concern of the kind in town.

The happy result by which every Democrat on the ticket carried Pulaski county is due more largely to the efficient services of J. F. Wysor, the Democratic county chairman, than to any other cause. Never has the county been better worked.

There is a movement on foot to present Mr. Wysor with a handsome gold watch, as a token of the appreciation felt for his labors, by local Democrats. It is also said that Hon. P. F. St. Clair, Democratic chairman for the Ninth District, intends shortly to resign his chairmanship, and that J. F. Wysor is his choice for his successor.

M. Johnson, George Currier, C. A. Eberhart, of Norfolk, and others.

The most important tract the sale of which is being considered is the Angola tract in Pender county, consisting of 4,000 acres, with considerable timber. The proceeds from sales of these swamp lands go to the State school funds, being loaned to the various counties for building school houses.

CHILDREN'S FOOD.

Dr. Robt. F. Williams Speaks to Mothers On Important Matters.

The monthly meeting of St. Andrew's Parents' and Teachers' Club was held yesterday afternoon at St. Andrew's School, Beverly and Cherry Streets. The large, sunny kindergarten room was nearly filled with the parents and teachers, who have recently formed an organization for the mutual improvement and better care of the children.

The meeting was opened with a hymn and prayer, and then Miss Elsie Intra, of the Medical College of Virginia, who made the address of the evening, Dr. Williams' subject was "Children's Food," a subject upon which he is an authority, and upon which he has recently written an exhaustive work. His lecture was most helpful and instructive.

Dr. Williams began by saying that practically all illnesses of children, except contagious diseases, are due to faulty or insufficient food. He then spoke of the five different classes of food and their uses and abuses.

First, the proteins, which supply the muscles and tissues of the body. This class is represented by the flesh of animals, milk, eggs and grains. "A child," said Dr. Williams, "requires more of this kind of food in proportion than does a man; for the reason that a child has not only to supply the wasted tissues, but also to add new tissue to the body."

Next, he spoke of the carbohydrates, or sugars and starches, the foods which furnish energy to the muscles. This class is represented by sugar and potatoes. Every child needs some sugar, but the average mother gives judiciously, either giving the sweets too concentrated, or too frequently.

The third kind of food consists of the various salts or mineral ingredients of the body, and the fourth class is the fats which supply the body with the necessary heat.

Lastly, there is water, which forms about 75 or 80 per cent. of the material of the body, and which should be taken by children frequently between meals. Water should not be taken in great quantities at meals, as it gives the child the tendency to wash the food in lumps into the stomach, thorough chewing is absolutely necessary to perfect digestion, and mothers should see that the children form proper habits of mastication.

In closing, Dr. Williams spoke of the Japanese, who depend solely on grains and vegetables for their protein food, and who lately proved themselves a most enduring race.

Diseases of Children.

Dr. W. S. Gordon gave the third of his series of lectures on "Hygiene of Children" yesterday afternoon at No. 14 West Main Street. His subject was "Diseases of Children and How to Detect the First Symptoms," and his treatment of the subject was most able. He went very carefully over the various apparently slight disorders in children, which may lead to such serious consequences, and cautioned the mothers to be on the lookout for any unusual listlessness and pallor of the child. "Practical common sense," said he, "must be used, and our power of observation must be trained to catch the first symptom of incipient disease, for by that means many little lives may be saved."

S. P. C. A.

Agent Has Saved Many Animals From Suffering.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals met on Tuesday night at 310 East Franklin Street. Only a few members of the board were present. Indeed, the condition of this most useful society is quite gloomy.

For some time the board do not attend, and it seems quite impossible to enlist new interest.

The report of the agent is as follows: "I have an immense unit for work and sent it to be cared for by 25 veterinarians; 4 overloaded teams; 12 cruelty; 2 horses and mules sent to be shot; 3 number causes for complaint; 7 fines collected, $21."

The Richmond public is earnestly requested to remember that the winter is near, and consider the need of the dumb friends.
